

Unanimous Decision of the Supreme Court Holds the Income Tax is Valid

TAY INCREASE LEVIES

Great Fortunes to be Forced by Democrats to Foot Bill of "Preparedness."

Fifty Per Cent. on Incomes of a Million is the Proposal Already Before Congress—Returns of Less than Three Thousand Dollars a Year may Also be Required to Pay a Pro Rated Share.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The income tax was declared constitutional today by the Supreme Court in a unanimous decision, which swept aside every objection raised against it, and in the opinion of Congressional leaders, opened the way for increasing the tax rate on great fortunes to help pay for national defense.

Proposals are pending in Congress to tax incomes of more than $1,000,000 as high as 50 per cent. Leaders on all sides agree that out of the impetus which the decision today will give such proposals, it is likely to come a definite movement to levy on the revenues from great private fortunes for some of the millions the government must raise to carry out the army and navy increases.

"The Supreme Court's decision has absolutely unfettered the income tax as a source of revenue," said Representative Hull of Tennessee, author of the law. "It is a great relief to the law. It is left much freer to act. I believe Congress will take advantage of the opportunity to amend the law materially. Without any unusual or unjust charges, it can be made to yield $155,000,000 to $195,000,000 a year, as against $85,000,000 or $95,000,000 at present."

Representative Hull is preparing amendments to carry the tax to incomes below $300,000, and make graded increases in the surtax on incomes exceeding $20,000 a year.

SIXTEENTH AMENDMENT.

In its declaration the Supreme Court construed for the first time the Sixteenth Amendment to the Constitution, under which the tax is levied, and gave it the broadest interpretation possible, rejecting suggestions to confine its scope to the income tax. The decision was announced by Chief Justice White and was unanimous. It was rendered in the appeal of Frank R. Bruencher from the action of the New York Federal Court in refusing to enjoin the Southern Pacific, of which Bruencher was a stockholder, from paying the tax. The case raised substantially every point involved in all the five income tax cases before the court, with the exception of the effect of the provision allowing minor corporations to make a 5 per cent. deduction annually from gross income for depletion of mines. This provision is regarded as being an amendment to the old corporation law, rather than as a part of the income tax.

BASIC ERROR.

The basic error of those who attacked the constitutionality of the tax, Chief Justice White held, was in regarding the Sixteenth Amendment as empowering the United States to levy a direct tax without apportionment among the States according to population. In substance, the court held that the Sixteenth Amendment had not empowered the Federal Government to levy a new tax, but that "the whole purpose of the amendment was to relieve all income taxes from a consideration of the source whence the income was derived."

Those opposing the tax had urged that the Sixteenth Amendment provided that income "from whatever source derived" should be taxed without regard to apportionment among the States. The court recognized the fact that "taxation on income was in the nature of an excise, entitled to be enforced as such unless, and until, it was concluded that to enforce it would amount to a direct tax." The court then declared that the tax was a direct tax, and hence subject to the regulation as to apportionment, which otherwise, as an excise would not apply to it.

The court then decided, he added, that the effect of the tax on income from real estate was the same as a direct tax had been levied on the real estate, and that it was with a view of obviating such questions that the amendment had been adopted. Inasmuch as the amendment had not conferred the power to levy an income tax, said the chief justice, it could not be interpreted as embracing limitations as to the nature and character of income to be taxed. To consider it as embracing limitations, such as not authorizing a progressive tax, he held was irreconcilable with the purpose of the amendment. He explained, too, that the uniformity of excise taxes required by the Constitution was geographical uniformity and not uniformity of application as to classes.

The chief justice further held that the tax did not violate the "due process" provision of the Constitution by imposing a higher rate of taxation on incomes above $20,000 than on those below that figure or by other provisions.

Most of Justice White's opinion was directed toward overruling the contention that the income tax amendment provided a hitherto unknown power of taxation. Going far into the history of income tax legislation the chief justice concluded the argument was without merit.

Advancing to the other points, the chief justice held that the tax was not unconstitutional because it was retroactive.

The argument that the law was unconstitutional because labor, agricultural and horticultural organizations and such were exempt, the justice held, was answered by decisions under the corporation tax law. He said the point was only another illustration of an erroneous assumption that the tax was imposed under a new power conferred upon the government by the war as an ally of Germany is doubted by British officials who say that Stockholm never will dare to incur the enmity of Russia.

The Germans are confident that if Sweden enters the war in the spring and proceeds to devote its attention exclusively to Russia, Rumania will join the central powers. Talk of Rumania participating has not been heard for some time, however. The current in diplomatic circles is that Rumania is too uncertain as to the tide of victory is going to flow. If Rumania joins the Teutons it will take Transylvania and Bukovina from Austria as a compensation and expect to wrest Bessarabia from Russia. If it takes the other side, Bessarabia will become the compensation and the Austrian province the expected booty.

German officials continue to insist that a campaign against Egypt will be undertaken in the spring. Since the opening of the campaign from Berlin to Constantinople, the Turkish army is alleged, is in excellent shape to carry out operations on a large scale. The German army, which consists of 900,000 seasoned fighters, according to the Germans, is now equipped with new small arms and cannons furnished by the Central Powers. The army has been transported to Constantinople. The Russian artillery, which was captured by the Germans, is being utilized with the German ammunition.

The representatives of the allies view the discussion of probable military movements of Germany and Austria as not unrelated to the peace talk that has emanated from Berlin in the last few days. A German newspaper has set the world talking of a possible separate peace proposal by Germany to Belgium. Another report has it that Berlin is seeking a separate peace with Japan. Recently an influential Japanese journal has been attacking the Japanese alliance with Great Britain and imputing the advisability of breaking the pact and coming to terms with Germany.

ITALY.

It is reported that the Italian Government is being subjected to great pressure at home to withdraw from the war by making peace with Austria.

In the view of the British and French officials here, the reports of Spain, Sweden and Rumania joining the central powers are being put forth by Berlin in the hope of influencing Belgium to make peace with Germany. The agreement of the Quadruple Entente not to make peace with Germany, unless all the powers already had occupied portions of that country.

Scutari, the most important trading town in Albania, has a population of 20,000. It lies on the east bank of Lake Scutari and has been recently captured by Montenegrin forces on April 23, 1915, after a siege lasting seven months.

The powers had previously decided to include Scutari in the kingdom of Albania, and King Nicholas had been offered compensation in money and territory on condition that he give up the town. The Montenegrin King declined the offer, however, and announced he would hold Scutari against the powers. As a result of his decision the international naval blockade of the Montenegrin coast was extended.

Later the powers made another demand on the King and the monarch finally decided to evacuate the town, which was occupied by an international force on May 4, 1915. The evacuation of the town was a great relief to the powers, as it ended the international naval blockade of the Montenegrin coast.

A DULL OPENING OF FREAK CONGRESS.

(BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.)

LONDON, Jan. 24.—The assembling of the second Parliament of Great Britain today was a disappointing function, according to the Reuters correspondent at Athens. Instead of the King opening the chamber with state ceremony as was expected, nothing of the kind happened.

King Constantine was unattended and the speech from the throne was dispensed with. Hence, more formalities characterized the sitting. This was partly due to the dangerous condition of the King, Minister of National Economy.

Many new deputies have not yet arrived at Athens and the galleries of the chamber were sparsely occupied today. The American Minister was the only diplomat present.

The new deputies have been sworn in the chamber adjourned indefinitely.

CONFIRMED BY LONDON.

(BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.)

LONDON, Jan. 24.—Austro-Hungarian troops have occupied the important town of Scutari in Northern Albania, according to a Stefani News Agency dispatch from Athens.

Scutari was occupied by Montenegrin troops in June, 1915, it being established by the capture of the town that the Montenegrin government that strategic and political reasons impelled the Montenegrin descent on Albania. An additional reason given was that other powers already had occupied portions of that country.

"I believe there is more of a disposition toward party harmony than there has been at any time," said Mr. Murphy. "If the Progressives are not nearly as able to get a candidate as the Republicans, I feel that any strong man will win. The convention is going to make the candidate and he will reflect the sentiment of the delegates. That is true more of this convention than in any recent years. Why? THE MOHR CASE.

Wife's Petition for Divorce Read into the Record.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

PROVIDENCE (R. I.) Jan. 24.—The introduction of the divorce petition of Mrs. Elizabeth F. Mohr against her husband, Dr. C. Franklin Mohr, in the trial of Mrs. Mohr and two negroes, Cecil Brown and Henry Spellman, on charges of murdering the doctor, precipitated a legal battle today. Before it was over testimony was produced that there was nothing in the records to indicate that the divorce suit was down for a hearing in September, 1915, although George Heale, the doctor's chauffeur, who had turned State's evidence, had previously testified that Mrs. Mohr had urged him and his alleged accomplices to kill the doctor on the night of August 31, as it was "the last chance" before her suit came up for a hearing the first of the next month.

Mrs. Mohr's petition was read into the evidence by the Attorney-General earlier in the day. In its amended version she asked for separate maintenance and charged the doctor with wrongdoing in his relations with other women and with the use of drugs.

(BY A. P. DAY WIRE.)

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—The question of the reasonableness of rates charged by privately-owned car lines came up today at the resumption here of the Interstate Commerce Commission's inquiry into the operations of the Armour car lines, suspended because of the refusal of Frederick W. Sullivan, vice-president of the company, to divulge certain information relative to the company.

George B. Robbins, president of the Armour car lines, testified today that the company owned 49,080 cars, which he said was fewer than the number operated two years ago. He said that the cars had been sold to fruit growers' associations. Asked why the company first started to operate refrigerator cars, he said it was because the railroad refused to furnish suitable ones.

WILSON PENS HIS KEYNOTE.

Will Stump the Country and Talk on Preparedness.

Tries to Induce Congress to Aid in His Campaign.

Plans to Leave Washington for the West Next Friday.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—President Wilson began efforts today to speed up the legislative machinery of Congress to clear the way for the preparedness program. Before beginning his speaking tour late this week to bestir public sentiment on the issue, he will impress on Congress the desirability of disposing of appropriation bills and other pending legislation so there may be as little delay as possible in reaching the army and navy measures.

The president discussed the appropriation bills today with Representatives Flood, Stephens, Over and Page, chairmen respectively of the House Foreign Affairs, Indian and Agricultural committees and the District of Columbia sub-committee of the Appropriations Committee. He told them he hoped Congress could finish its work and adjourn before the national political conventions. They assured him of their assistance.

The president was informed that legislation was usually delayed most in the Senate, and therefore he probably will confer with leaders of that body before going West.

Plans for pushing legislation will be taken up further by the President and his Cabinet tomorrow, and while he is away from Washington the Cabinet members will co-operate with leaders of the Senate and House in every possible way.

OUTLINES HIS KEYNOTE.

In his national defense speeches the President plans to discuss preparedness and other issues pending before the country in the frankest manner possible. He has been told by Cabinet members that in many states the people do not understand why the army and navy should be increased at this time. He is expected to declare that there is real need for the United States to be prepared to uphold its position before the world. In this connection the Mexican and European situations will be mentioned.

Mr. Wilson will leave for New York Wednesday afternoon and remain there Wednesday and Thursday, making two speeches Thursday. He plans to return to Washington Friday morning before starting on his Middle Western trip Friday.

St. Louis was added to the itinerary today at the urgent request of Senators Stone and Reed of Missouri. Progress was made on the arrangements for the meetings and entertainments to be attended by him in Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Chicago, Des Moines, Milwaukee, Toledo, Kansas City and St. Louis.

During the day the President was strongly urged to visit the South on the second trip. He probably will make such a return to the South. The South Carolina and Virginia legislatures asked him to address them, and many cities in all parts of the South sent invitations. In reply to all he said he would go south if he possibly could.

Confident of Reward.

CONTEST IN FULL SWING AND ENTHUSIASM GROWS.

Daily New Candidates Enter the Race for "The Times" Prizes—Mother Sees in the Campaign a Valuable Educational Feature for Her Daughter—Fair Contestants Each Plan to Win One of the Fine Automobiles.

AN UNPARALLELED opportunity to candidates in The Times automobile and prize campaign, to those who are just starting and to those who have been undecided about entering, is announced today on another page of The Times. The great special offer, which begins tomorrow and ends February 15, consists of 100,000 extra votes for every club of five new yearly subscriptions to this paper, or their equivalent. Look for the advertisement describing the 100,000 offer. It is of supreme importance.

The campaign is developing into a robust affair. Aided and abetted by the deep interest of candidates and public alike, these preliminary days

CAMPAIGN GINGER.

Hustle, plus votes, equals a Times automobile. It adds pleasure, divides time, subtracts commonplaces of life and multiplies your friends.

Preparedness in The Times campaign consists of starting early.

That $15 offer is a mighty good starter.

Have you noticed how many votes a year's subscription will bring?

Use the "First Subscription Coupon" when you get your first subscriber. It is good for 15,000 extra votes.

"Why so many automobiles?" asked a fair candidate yesterday. "I can't for the life of me decide which one I want most."

People help those who help themselves.

The contest department telephones: Home 10391, Main 8300. When in doubt, ring us up.

It is easier to ask questions than to correct mistakes.

"Where do you live?" was asked a business man the other day.

B. M. (whose daughter is a Times candidate), absent-mindedly: "In District Four."

The date on the free coupons changes each day. Be sure they are in before they expire.

And trim them neatly—with your name, address and district written plainly.

Every day!

are going to leave no stone unturned to be successful. They will be pleasantly surprised at the co-operation that will come from outside sources.

Clipping the free coupons every day is one way of getting votes. But, of course, by far the best way to rise in the vote column is to secure subscriptions to The Times. A study of the vote schedule, printed elsewhere, brings to light many interesting possibilities.

For instance, assuming you have not yet entered the campaign, fill out the nomination blank. It starts you with 5000 votes. Suppose you have started, but thus far have not begun actual work. Secure your first subscription from some friend, or relative, and then use the "First Subscription Coupon," adding 15,000 to the regular votes on the subscription. That's more than 20,000 votes.

Then if you will bring or send in $18 worth of subscriptions during the next few days, you will get the regular votes and 20,000 more, besides.

A good idea is to study the vote schedule carefully. It appears on the back of all receipt books. A new yearly subscription counts 40,000 votes; a two-year subscription means 100,000 votes. Isn't it apparent that such liberal vote makes progress an easy matter?

Your ambition could never be greater rewarded than in this campaign. So why not start today to gratify it?

AGAIN IN THE TOLLS.

Alleged Impersonator of Federal Official Is Jailed.

R. Milton Hamilton, alias John Madison Prescott, who was arrested here some time ago, on the charge of impersonating a government official, is again in the toils, having been taken into custody at San Diego.

When Hamilton was picked up in this city, on the charge of swindling a number of Broadway stores out of goods, on the strength of his employment by the government, his case was taken before the Federal grand jury, but that body refused to indict him, and the young man was turned loose.

He had no sooner been released from the County Jail, it is alleged, than he walked over to the office of the Wells Fargo Company, and got rid of a check for $5, using the government employment device again.

The Federal officers here have been looking for him for some days. The woman who was with him at the time of his first arrest did not appear this time.

FLEEING WEAITH.

Boy Confesses Theft Soon After Looting a Store Safe.

For twelve hours, Roswell Ogden had the most money he ever held in his life. He obtained it by climbing through the transom into a store at Ninth and San Pedro streets, early yesterday morning, looting an unlooked safe, and escaping again by the transom.

The burglary was soon discovered. Detectives Beaumont and Oaks, who were assigned to capture the culprit, found the boy, and twenty minutes later had a full confession from him, and most of the loot. The boy lives with his parents at No. 1300 Maple avenue.

BANKRUPTCY MATTERS.

Louis M. Allen, a rancher of Pomona, filed a petition in bankruptcy in the United States District Court yesterday. His debts amount to $2189.25, and his assets to $12,400, of which $10,700 is the alleged value of his real estate.

C. H. Gaunt.

Now general manager of the Pacific division of the Western Union. On February 1 he will take charge of the same office in Chicago, having jurisdiction over ten States.

Higher.

COAST MANAGER TO GO TO CHICAGO.

HEAD OF WESTERN UNION PACIFIC DIVISION PROMOTED.

During His Incumbency Here Local Receipts Increased Thirty Thousand Dollars a Month and Company's Business Shows Gain of Sixty-five Per Cent.

Changes taking effect February 1 in the positions of general manager of the Western Union Telegraph Company at Chicago and San Francisco will give C. H. Gaunt, now general manager of the Pacific division embracing all the Pacific Coast and adjacent territory, the same title at Chicago, with jurisdiction over the company's lines in ten States.

Mr. Gaunt is well known here. It is said that an average of $1,000,000 per year has been expended by the company during his administration in reconstruction, additions and improvements, beyond the increase in operating expenses, and the company has reported an increased business of 65 per cent. on the Coast during that period.

Prior to his connection with the company Mr. Gaunt was successively a railroad operator, wire chief and assistant superintendent of telegraph. He entered the service of the Santa Fe Railway as superintendent of its telegraph system, having been called there to reconstruct it from Chicago to the Coast. The manner in which this was done gained him promotion to assistant general manager at Topeka, which he resigned for the position of general superintendent offered by the Western Union.

On his last visit here in November he predicted the early arrival of prosperity, judging from the company's reports from its thirty subdivisions, and at the telegraph office today it was pointed out that the present business is more than a fourth larger than last year and increasing rapidly.

Morris T. Cook will be Mr. Gaunt's successor. He comes from the position of assistant general manager at Chicago, and is well known to Western Union people in this territory by reputation as an active and progressive commercial manager.

There has been provided a modern, conveniently-equipped main office, occupying six stories, entirely devoted to the handling of Western Union business. The branch office in the city now number twenty-eight as against half that number in 1910.

lice that they saw the two men fleeing and declared that they both are very young. They wore dark clothing and dark caps pulled down over their faces. They each had revolvers in their hands. They did not appear to be wounded.

From the description of one of the bandits the police detectives last night declared that they suspect that one of the men who did the shooting is a man for whom they have been searching since the crap game hold-up in the Maryton Hotel several weeks ago.

THIS SAME MAN?

The detectives said last night that this may be the man who attempted to hold-up the Boos Brothers Cafeteria at No. 648 South Broadway yesterday afternoon and that he has been identified as such by Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Groves of the Yorkshir Hotel, who were in the place at the time of the attempted hold-up. The identification was made last night from a picture of the suspect in the hands of the police.

This man, the police allege, since the crap game hold-up has "turned bad" and they believe he is the man who for the past week has been holding up pedestrians in all sections of the city and been implicated in a number of burglaries.

Mr. Hendrickson was one of the best known men in the city in his line of work. He had been at the head of the Chester Place Night Watch Service for fourteen years. During his work there he made many good captures, chief among which was that of Dave Canary, known as the "Gentleman Burglar."

Mr. Hendrickson engaged in a gun fight with Canary, who is now serving a life term in the Folsom. In front of the residence of E. L. Doherty, where he surprised him in the act of entering the house. The shooting took place November 9, 1904. Canary fired three shots at Mr. Hendrickson, one of which cut off a button from his vest. In returning the fire Mr. Hendrickson was wounded twice by Mr. Hendrickson and was captured the next day when he attempted to get medical attention. It was discovered then that Canary had shot and killed Patrolman Smith at Oakland and was a well-known bandit on the entire West Coast.

During the investigation of the "Tim" dynamite Mr. Hendrickson figured several times in the case and gave much assistance to George Home. He made one trip to the eastern coast to assist against some of the gang arrested there.

Before coming to Los Angeles Hendrickson was connected for a time with the Chicago police department as a member of the "dynamite squad" and worked out of the detectives office there. He is said to have helped to handle the Haymarket riots. Later he went to South Africa and was connected with the mounted police for a number of years. On his return from Africa he started his night watch service in Chester Place.

Mr. Hendrickson leaves a widow, two daughters and a son.

Illegal, may be a Felony, Says County Counsel.

Overriding questions of legality and the face of heavy opposition, supervisors yesterday created the office of a flood control engineer and appropriated a total of $60,000 for carrying on its work.
Supervisors Pridham and Woodley, who have continually held that the establishment of such a department would be a waste of taxpayers' money, and that the people at large would be backed in their stand by the adoption of the county counsel. According to this official, there is no authority under the law by which the supervisors can transfer $60,000 or any other amount from the general fund to any special fund such as that of the flood control department.
The matter of creating a flood control engineering department has been under consideration for months, and yesterday morning, in a chamber crowded with persons protesting flood damages and asking immediate action toward relief from dangers, the question of the department was the first taken up.
Supervisor Hamilton, who has been paid for the ordinance ever since its inception, demanded that it be passed. Supervisor Woodley, on the other hand, carried on carrying on the ordinance, showing the department already has the money and all necessary data to go with the project suggested.
UNANIMITY WANTED.
He considered both time and money to be wasted in creating the department and called attention to the fact that the people at large would support a bond issue, such as that proposed by the Los Angeles Flood Control Association for $3,000,000, as the method of expenditure.
Chairman Pridham seconded this motion and was sustained by a vote of 10 to 2.
Supervisor Woodley immediately after called for an opinion on the proposed ordinance. This authorized the appropriation of $60,000 to carry on the initial work of office organization and an additional $50,000 for carrying work under the Baker Flood Control Act.
All of this ordinance would be accepted and would have passed long ago if engineers employed by supervisors Pridham and Woodley had been appointed to the position now occupied by Flood Control Engineer J. W. Reagan, who, according to the ordinance, would be in charge of the department.
The ordinance was passed by a vote of 10 to 2.

Loved Soldier Slain

late of Mr. Parmentier ever since last August, when the last personal word from him was received in this city. His friends had feared the worst from the beginning, but his survival of the terrific fighting which marked the earlier stages of the war in France, and, later, cheerful letters written by him from the Dardanelles front, had caused their apprehension to be mixed with hope. No successor had been selected to fill his important office in the institute. A. R. Walker, who has acted in his place, having been known from the start as secretary pro tem.

Mr. Parmentier was born in Paris forty-eight years ago, the son of a French officer who fought through the Franco-Prussian war. His mother was an Abbatist. When he was a baby, his parents, both now dead, went to Gebweiler (the Guebville, as the French call it, referred to in the above quoted) to live. In this Alsatian city he spent his early boyhood. Although living in the conquered province and forced to attend Germanized schools, he grew up a Frenchman to the core.

When he was 14 his parents sent him to the home of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Enck, in Chicago, that he might not be compelled to serve in the German army. He lived with the Encks until 1899, attending the Chicago public schools and studying architecture in various offices.

HIS WORK HERE.
Mr. Parmentier came to Southern California in 1900, entering the service of a Santa Barbara architect as draughtsman. He came to Los Angeles in 1904, working in local offices for three years and then going into business for himself. During the years of his practice here he planned many notable buildings, including business blocks, apartment-houses, hotels and fine residences. The last building he designed in this city was the $100,000 Murray apartments in the Westlake district. It was immediately following the completion of this structure that he went abroad on the trip which was to lead him into his tragic adventure.

For thirteen years before he went abroad Mr. Parmentier actively engaged in the Southern California chapter of the American Institute of Architects. Before he left for Europe, a year and a half ago, his fellow architects in Southern California had, unknown to him, put up his name as a candidate for the title of Fellow of the national body, the highest distinction within the ranks of the institute to bestow. Mr. Parmentier received the first intimation of this when the notification of his election as a Fellow came to him in New York, the summer of 1914 for the much-needed rest, intending to spend the greater part of his time abroad at the home of his sister, Mrs. Enck, in Gebweiler. The war burst forth in all its fury while he was in London. Fired by love of his native land and hastened to Paris and enlisted in a regiment of Alsatian volunteers.

Mr. Parmentier was with the French forces that penetrated into Alsace at the beginning of the fighting and one of his first letters to reach this country related how he hoped to see his sister upon the then apparently imminent capture of Gebweiler. The letter just received from his comrades in Paris would indicate that he had either seen Mrs. Enck or at least been in communication with her.

WINS PROMOTION.
Later his regiment, the Seventy-fourth, was transferred to Northern France, where it saw hard fighting and where distinguished service won him a promotion to the rank of captain. He was then in a hospital at Rouen, whether on account of wounds or sickness not being known.

In a letter addressed to Mr. Walker on December 31, 1914, that arrived in Los Angeles in February, 1915, Mr. Parmentier thanked the chapter for the honor it had been instrumental in having conferred upon him. At that time, too, he dwelt at length upon the great improvement of his health, life in the freezing, rain-soaked trenches under a hail of screaming shells, seeming to agree with him after his years of close confinement at work.

The next time Mr. Parmentier was heard from he was with the French expeditionary force at the Dardanelles, "up against the Turks," as he expressed it in a letter to Mr. Martin. He was then with the Sixth Company, One Hundred and Seventy-sixth Regiment, "Expéditionnaire d'Orient," with the rank of corporal. The facts as known lead his friends among the architects to believe that he must have met his death from a bullet or shell in the hideous Seddul Bahr fighting and this belief is shared by his relatives.

Mr. Martin stated last night that steps would be taken by the local chapter of the institute to learn the circumstances of his ending. His aunt and cousins in Pasadena addressed a letter yesterday to the military authorities in Paris.

STUDENT OFFICERS.
Five Elected Outright at Manual Arts High Primary.
The results of the primary election at Manual Arts High School yesterday for student body officers to serve during the coming semester, show five candidates elected outright and six in the running for the final election tomorrow. Fitz MacChandler was unanimously chosen president, May Korthly was elected girls' self-government president. Dan McMullen received the same office in the boys' division. Angela Wheeler is to be secretary and Marguerite Shedd was elected editor of the Manual Arts Weekly.

For the office of boys' vice-president Harry Scheppe and Kenneth Repeth are still on the ballot. Katherine Fitch and Elizabeth Armstrong are yet to be decided upon for girls' vice-president. Edward Crawford was elected editor of the Manual Arts Weekly.

POINT RECEIVER.
The National Paperette Company of Springfield, Mass., with a claim of $2076; N. H. Clark and Richard P. Smiddy, both of Chicago, creditors to the extent of $20 and $125, respectively, filed a petition in the United States District Court yesterday, praying that Jackson & Semmelmeier, dealers in art goods, kodaks, etc., with stores at No. 184 East Colorado street, Pasadena, and No. 912 State street, Santa Barbara, be declared bankrupt. E. F. Whitbeck was appointed receiver of the concerns with a bond of $10,000.

BUMPER LEGAL MELON IS CUT.
Fifty-thousand-dollar Fee is Allowed by Court.
Represents Six Years of Hard Digging by Attorneys.
In Affairs of the California Development Company.

If lawyers can be said to cut melons, one was cut in Judge Myers's court yesterday. It was a $50,000 melon, representing six years of grueling legal work in the California Development Company tangle. This sum was asked for the firm of O'Melveny, Stevens, Millikin & Tullen, counsel for the Title Insurance and Trust Company, trustees for the bondholders. They had received $28,000 on account, and as this marks the wind-up in the great litigation—the entire litigation system is to go under the hammer February 8—the Trust Company made application for the balance due.

The Southern Pacific, represented by Attorneys Ives and Walker, opposed the payment of the balance of $22,000, not on the ground that it was unreasonable, but because it was alleged this court lacked jurisdiction, and because the matter had been fully disposed of in the Bordwell decree. In this decree former Judge Bordwell provided that $10,000 should be paid to Receiver Holabird through the clerk of the court, as a fund upon which to draw for further expenses. Attorney Ives argued this precluded the court at this time allowing the fees asked for, as the Bordwell decree fixed a limitation.

Judge Myers allowed the fee, holding it was not the intent of the Bordwell decree to limit the allowance. He took under advisement the application of Boaz Duncan, intervenor in the famous litigation, for $10,000 for services rendered by the firm of Valentine & Newby.

In view of a compromise the contempt proceedings involving A. J. Flores, one of the holders of stock in the Mexican company, were continued one week. Mr. Flores was ordered by the Bordwell decree to deliver to the commissioner prior to the auction sale, that he could put it up for sale. Mr. Flores declined to do so, and Judge Myers issued a citation to appear and show cause.

UPSETS PRECEDENTS.
Judge Trippet Examines Veniremen; Eulogizes Jury System.
Judge Trippet set a new mark yesterday, when he personally put all of the questions to the members of the two venires summoned for duty as term trial jurors in the United States District Court. It is the first time since when the memory of man runs to the contrary that it has been done. The United States District Attorney always heretofore assisting in the examination.

At the morning session of court, a jury was empaneled for service in Judge Trippet's department, and in the afternoon, a similar body for service in Judge Dietrich's department. In his remarks to the jurors Judge Trippet eulogized the jury system, and paid a tribute to the busy man who was willing to leave his home and family to serve the government. He said that loafers were not wanted on juries, but that men of affairs, or who had retired after having spent their ability as business men, were the most valuable asset the courts had as members of a jury.

"OXY" COHORT GROWS.
Five More Team Captains Selected in Preparation for Coming Two-week Campaign to Raise Million Dollars as Endowment for the College.
Preparations for the fourteen-day whirlwind campaign which will be launched February 14 to raise $1,000,000 for Occidental College, received another big impetus yesterday when five new team captains were announced at a luncheon of the Executive Committee of the campaign. They are Carl E. McStay of the Southern California Auto Club; Melville C. Adler, vice-president of Harris & Frank; Hon. Charles W. Bell of Pasadena, former Congressman from this district; Charles S. Hutson, sales manager for the Union Lithograph Company, and Todd Cook of Spohn-Cook Manufacturers' Agents.

Organization of the vast army that will work for two weeks for Occidental College is going forward very rapidly and at yesterday's meeting of the Executive Committee, which was held in the private dining-room adjoining the campaign headquarters on the mezzanine floor of the Alexandria, Hon. Frank P. Flint, chairman of the committee, stated he expects the list of team captains from the business men's division to be completed before February 1, when the Executive Committee will take up the plans of action for the campaign.

The campaign proper will be launched at a big rally dinner, Monday evening, February 14, at 6 o'clock in the ballroom of the Alexandria, and beginning Wednesday, February 16, daily rally luncheons will be held for fourteen consecutive working days.

Chairman Flint said last night that there is no doubt in his mind that the movement would be a conspicuous success.

Westward, Ho!
ON EVE OF BIG TIMES.
Business Men Back from East Filled With Confidence that Wave of Prosperity is Due to Lift Los Angeles in Two or Three Months.
Declaring his belief that Los Angeles is on the threshold of the greatest prosperity it has ever known, Robert Marsh, head of the realty firm of Robert Marsh & Co., stepped from the platform of a Southern Pacific train yesterday morning on his return from a five-week visit in the East and Middle West. Mr. Marsh's optimism is even greater than that of other returning travelers, for he puts the coming wave of progress at from two to three months in the future, whereas others have conservatively predicted that the return of phenomenally good times could be expected in the summer.

"The East," said Mr. Marsh, "is experiencing the greatest boom in all its history. New York City has forgotten the very meaning of the words 'hard times.' I was astonished at conditions on the Atlantic seaboard. It is an absolute fact that the East has never seen such good times before."

"And the wave is coming West faster than anyone can imagine. Chicago is experiencing wonderfully good times right now and conditions are constantly improving there. Denver and Salt Lake City are already feeling the impetus. Los Angeles and the whole Pacific Coast will soon be in the midst of it."

There is no longer any excuse for inactivity here, he said, and he looks for the greatest real estate activity the city has ever known, within the next few months.

TREND OF THE FINANCIAL NEWS.
CHIEF EVENTS OF YESTERDAY.
 (At Home.) Growing returns are made by the Southern Pacific for the past six months in its western business, the increase over the year previous being very substantial. Investors turned to the selling side of the financial markets and took profits on recent dealings. Metal stocks, especially copper, are strong, copper being offered at 25 1/2 cents.
 (Abroad.) London is a good seller of American securities. A small amount of gold was shipped to New York.
 (For details see financial pages.)

SORROWFUL NAME.
 The alleged new capital of Mexico has a mighty melancholy name. A "Delores Hidalgo" is a grief-stricken and weeping gentleman; a solemn and sobbing Senor Don.

RIGHTS OF FILIPINOS.
 Suppose the people of the Philippine Islands do not want independence and, on the question being submitted to them, should vote against it, preferring to remain American citizens? Has Congress the moral or the constitutional or any other right to divest them of their citizenship? A man may expatriate himself, but can his government expatriate him?

OBSERVING AN EVENT.
 Celebrations are not always as appropriate as they may be timely. It may often be the time to celebrate, but the manner of the celebration is not always fitting. You may celebrate either by red fire or fire water. One man will take home a pound of goose livers for an occasion, while another man will stay out all night. Somebody should print a book on how to celebrate. Nearly everybody would read it and absolutely nobody would follow its advice.

KNOWING VERSUS GUESSING.
 A Polish maiden has been elected to a seat in the College of France and has begun a course of lectures there. She was thus honored because some years ago she predicted that the future war would be one of sieges and intrenchments. This prophecy and the honor that it subsequently brought her had nothing to do with the vagaries of prophecy, but with the conclusions of science. It is as scientist and not as seeress that she comes to the College of France.

BEGIN HIGHER UP.
 This race of the Colorado, which comes like a yellow dragon stretched from the mountains to the Gulf, has once more demonstrated that it is to be curbed and held in place the curbing must begin higher up. This is not local to the points of overflow. This is not the problem of Needles or Yuma or the Imperial Valley. This is the problem of a nation and it must be settled in Colorado or before the stream touches Colorado. Its good must be strengthened at the base and its evil must be checked there.

ADVISORY, NOT MANDATORY.
 The ninth plank of the national Democratic platform says: "We favor a single Presidential term and to that end urge the adoption of an amendment to the Constitution making the President of the United States ineligible for re-election and we pledge the candidate of this convention to this principle."
 Has any Democratic Congressman or Senator in the Sixty-third or Sixty-fourth Congress introduced any such amendment?
 Not—as the big Bull Moose might say—"not on your so-called vitality."

Why?
 "Because," says President Wilson, "this resolution against a second term is not mandatory; it is merely advisory."
 That is what Gov. Johnson says of the Eighth Commandment.
 And what a job lot of Progressive politicians say of the Tenth Commandment.

BOTTLED GOODS.
 There was picked up on the beach at Santa Monica—unless our correspondent is lying—a sealed bottle in which was enclosed the following communication:
 "On board steamer Ananias. Latitude 44, longitude 165, November 2, 1915.
 "A violent storm has overtaken us and as it now appears in a few hours we must join McGilgaty at the bottom of the sea. We attribute our misfortune to the operations of the La Follette law. Just before we left San Pedro bound for Vladivostok our sailors struck for double wages and a quadruple allowance of grog and we were compelled to shanghai a lot of green hands from the editorial rooms of the Los Angeles Tribune and Express. They exhibited such gross ignorance of the niceties of the English language that the simplest orders of the mate were not understood by them. When one of them was asked what journal he was connected with before he came to America he replied that he was society editor of the Berlin Jahrbucher National-alkoholische und Statistisk, and that all he understood of sailor lingo was an order to seize a liquid marliniscope and bouse the main jib with it."
 The epidemic of influenza that raged in this country the early part of the year is the most severe since 1891. Medical authorities claim it is due to what is known as the Pfeiffer bacillus, but those who have had the grip are not on speaking terms with the little pest.

It is leap year, all right, and women are supposed to do the proposing. But they are not compelled to, bless 'em; just leave the couple alone; she will attend to the proposing, and not do it, either.

GENERAL ELECTION IN ENGLAND.
 There are many signs that the coalition government in England is not working well. Many London newspapers devote daily editorials to the possible general election in the near future.

And there seems a very general opinion that in that event David Lloyd George will be the new Prime Minister. He is easily the most spectacular figure on the horizon for the position. Sir Herbert Beerhohn Tree, speaking at the Outwest dinner party on Saturday evening, hazarded the opinion that all great men were dramatic, and that they were dramatic because they were great. If that view is accepted, Lloyd George certainly fills the requirements, for he is nothing if not dramatic.

Before the war, as Chancellor of the Exchequer in the Liberal Cabinet, he was probably the most hated and the most beloved man in England. But the love was cupboard love, the love of the trade unions, the old-age pensioners and the lower strata of the population, for whom he was forever enforcing expensive paternal legislation relieving them of the necessity of self-reliance and personal responsibility in every department of their lives.

And in introducing those measures he became famous for the spectacularly scurrilous speeches against the aristocracy and the land owners, for his brilliantly verbose attacks on noble families, for his reckless and utterly unfounded statements of facts regarding the properties of these people, for his scintillating belittlement of all things patrician.

His vilification of the House of Lords, which, while containing a few purely hereditary members, many of whom came of a long line of great and efficient statesmen trained for their jobs from birth, like the Marquis of Salisbury and the Duke of Devonshire, Lord Rosebery and Lord Lansdowne—is also composed largely of peers who have won their titles for eminent work for the empire, so rewarded by the very Cabinet of which he was a member, like Lord Cromer, Lord Haldane, the Earl of Crewe, Lord Milner and many others—this attack won for him the adherence of the lowest minds of the country, who are ever delighted to see their superiors pilloried.

But since becoming the newly-created Minister of Munitions he has found it necessary to turn those gifts of scurrilous vilification against the proteges, and the great tribulation of the country has served to prove that those same patricians against whom he was wont to take such ecstatic verbal flings have risen to the occasion with incredible self-sacrifice and a sublime sense of their responsibility to the nation. While those same proteges, the trade-union pets of legislation, have been haggling over pence and minutes and petty restrictions, the patricians have sent forth their sons to battle, to fight an unequal war, to die with amazing heroism, often for want of the munitions the workers refused to supply.

David Lloyd George is a dramatic, a sophisticated rhetorician—as Disraeli once said of Gladstone, "inherited that stand high in the respect of the state outside of present political lines. Conspicuous and tariff reform will probably be the main issues, for free trade has proved a nightmare policy to England in the day of her trial. The old party lines may be adhered to in name, but the party who puts up the greatest number of prominently efficient men will win.

The old bulldog had become soft and taken to ribbons and fat living. But he is no quitter. He has realized his condition and is in for some hard training. He is getting leaner and has discarded cooked chicken for raw bones. His teeth are hardening up. And the emotional persuasiveness of the Lloyd George rhetoric may easily prove the inspiration of his sluggish effort.

STEALING MINES OF AMERICANS.
 In spite of the petitions of the mining companies, through the International Mining Association, to Carranza to rescind his decree quadrupling the taxes on mining claims in Mexico and providing for confiscation of them in the event of non-payment, the "First Chief" refuses to either revoke or modify the decree.

Mr. E. J. Kimball of this city, in a communication to Senator Works which is printed in the Congressional Record of January 13, says of the Carranza tax decree: "It is in name a tax, but in purpose and effect is none other than a diplomatic confiscatory measure, surely confiscating the greater portion of the mining claims belonging to Americans and other foreigners in Mexico, with the exception perhaps of those properties belonging to a few great corporations, who may be fortunate through governmental pressure or private arrangement to escape this tax. Mining properties owned by Americans and other foreigners in Mexico were either purchased or located by them during the regimes of Porfirio Diaz, Francisco Madero or Victoriano Huerta, and at a time when the taxes, although high enough, were not confiscatory."

Mining claims in Mexico are measured by pertenencias. A pertenencia is two and one-half acres. Eight pertenencias are equivalent to a mining claim of 1500 by 600 feet, which may be located under the United States mining law. In order to hold a mining claim under our laws a locator must do $100 worth of development work on it each year, when he may apply for and obtain a patent.

Under the Mexican mining law a claim containing the same number of square feet may be held by paying the government 6 pesos yearly per pertenencia for the first twenty-five pertenencias and 3 pesos per pertenencia per annum for all additional pertenencias. Under the Carranza decree this tax is raised to 12 pesos gold per pertenencia for the first ten pertenencias, 15 pesos per pertenencia for the second ten, 18 pesos per pertenencia for the next thirty, and 24 pesos per pertenencia for the remaining pertenencias.

Put It in Good Running Order!

traitorous enemy spies. And there is a very general demand for the utilization of the brains of the foremost business men of the empire in the councils for the conduct of the war. It is safe to say that an election would see an almost clean sweep of incumbents and that any new Cabinet will see the inclusion of names that stand high in the respect of the state outside of present political lines. Conspicuous and tariff reform will probably be the main issues, for free trade has proved a nightmare policy to England in the day of her trial. The old party lines may be adhered to in name, but the party who puts up the greatest number of prominently efficient men will win.

Sixty pertenencias is the common size of a Mexican quartz claim, and the yearly tax on such a claim before the Carranza decree was 255 pesos. The Carranza decree more than quadruples this tax and makes it 1050 pesos. If a company owns 500 pertenencias, which is not an uncommon occurrence, it would pay, under the old law, 1275 pesos per annum to the government. Under the Carranza decree it would pay 11,610 pesos. In addition to this annual tax the Carranza decree inflicts a tax of 110 pesos on every kilo (two and two-tenths of a pound)

OUR PHILIPPINE PROBLEM.
 (CONTRIBUTED TO THIS TIMES)
 BY PATRICK GALLAGHER,
 Founder and Former Editor of the Philippine Free Press.

THE acute stage of the controversy between former President Taft and Secretary of War Garrison over the details of our administration in the Philippines has passed, so far as this country is concerned. About this time the matter has reached the islands through the newspapers and is probably being discussed there gleefully by both sides in the complex politics of Manila and to the entire detriment of any administrative plans, leading further to the insular belief that we have no consistent policy upon which reliance can be placed. To keep the controversy alive we now have the McCumber amendment in the Senate to the bill granting freedom to the Filipinos. It is high time to stop theorizing and partisan political wrangling over the Philippines. While we are wasting valuable time in Congress and in the islands, coddling the Filipinos one moment, curbing and cussing them the next, our real opportunities over there are lying fallow. The utter ignorance of the average Congressman as to vital Philippine facts is amazing. Republicans, Democrats alike, with eye and ear trained to domestic political possibilities, stop off at Manila, Cebu, Iloilo and Zamboanga, "inspect conditions," absorb mountains of misinformation—usually aided by disgruntled discharged officials—and return to Congress and their constituencies to belabor the issue which loses nothing that partisan heat can bestow. A plague upon both their houses! These "expert" outpourings are not merely valueless, but positively dangerous.

As a consequence, Philippine bonds, which should be booming, are as drugs in the market. Vastly alluring world monopolies are crying in vain for capital. Capital will not flow into the Philippines, trade cannot thrive, until the government of the islands is put upon a businesslike, instead of upon an unstable, partisan footing. With all respect to Mr. Taft, our government of the Philippines has been at no time free from the partisan taint, however obvious it may have been intended; and also despite the very laudable association of able men who were avowed, if not very pronounced, Democrats.

There is one possible cure for our present Philippine muddle. Let us admit to ourselves and frankly tell the Filipinos that, while sensible of the binding character of the promises already given to concede complete Philippine independence when the Filipinos are able to sustain and defend themselves as an independent nation, we cannot name in advance that possible day of severance of political relations. Let us further indicate to them that when the day arrives that they have demonstrated among themselves that they have the capacity for self-government, beyond peradventure, they may then, if they so elect, pass under our flag to one of their own with our blessing, and with honor to ourselves in view of the responsibility which we have undertaken wisely—undertaken more in their interests than in our own. In the meantime they must trust us to be just and fair, while we are bound in honor to give them a real chance to become self-governing, as we have been doing, as undoubtedly we will continue to do.

If we had advanced more rapidly and, prior to August, 1914, set up an independent Philippine commonwealth (as was advocated) under an international guarantee of neutralization, what flag would now be flying over the Philippines? The "Far Eastern Review" asks this question. Let us further indicate to them that when the day arrives that they have demonstrated among themselves that they have the capacity for self-government, beyond peradventure, they may then, if they so elect, pass under our flag to one of their own with our blessing, and with honor to ourselves in view of the responsibility which we have undertaken wisely—undertaken more in their interests than in our own. In the meantime they must trust us to be just and fair, while we are bound in honor to give them a real chance to become self-governing, as we have been doing, as undoubtedly we will continue to do.

Let us reorganize our government of the Philippines, remembering that we have set out to do something that has never even been attempted in the previous history of the world—to nationalize (with all that the word means) an alien people whose history and traditions have nothing in common with our own. Let us realize the solemn truth that we can only succeed by bending all our own national energies to the job and that, for our own credit, we must not fail.

Let us write into a new Philippine bill a provision which will make the Governor-General at Manila absolute master of the situation, free from baneful partisan influence, subject to removal only for cause and after impeachment and trial, giving him an ample term—ten years or thereabouts—from his accession to the Governorship. Assure to the Vice-Governor, appointed by succeeding Washington administration, should the Governorship, unless removed for cause after impeachment and trial. Stabilize the Philippine civil service, in the interest alike of American and Filipino officials, by according fixity of tenure and retirement on pension after faithful service. If wisdom and foresight exist at Washington and Manila these things can and will be done.

Spain failed in the Philippines because she tried to govern the islands from Toledo and Madrid. The intrigues, the wrangles of court and Cortes are being duplicated by us on the backstairs of the White House. IMPERIAL VALLEY SAFE FROM RIVER'S THREATS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
CENTRO, Jan. 24.—With the flood surge safely past the river works, the menace of the Colorado was today removed and the Imperial Valley, under the greatest irrigation project in America, comes through unscathed from the storm which has caused devastation on every other side of it.
The rains which did damage to the extent of millions in Southern California and Arizona little more than touched the valley and notwithstanding that the Colorado was swollen to its greatest dimensions in its known history, not a single drop of water got within the inner barriers of the valley's protective system in Mexico, the nearest of which is twenty-five miles south of the boundary line. The intake gate and levees have withstood the crucial test and while breaches were made they simply showed up weak spots in the line and will result in better security.
The crest of the river has passed the delta and Volcano Lake, which the Colorado reaches by a westward jog. There the waters are high. At the extreme end of the levee known as Bowker's Gate, the gauge this afternoon read 27.4, and at a point a half in twenty-four hours. At Dominguez Slough, there is a spur extending south. On the west side the river reads 29.4, and at the east 40.7 feet. The levee height at Bowker's is 43.
At Hamilton's heading the gauge reads 112.8 sea level, a fall from the peak of nearly eight feet. The Yuma gauge today showed an eleven-foot fall from peak. Higher up the river at The Needles, the Colorado fell over two feet in twenty-four hours, and is still falling. The small flood which passed Needles two days ago is apparently near Parker, which reported a rise of .6 feet in twenty-four hours.
The crisis in the fight with the river came late last night and early this morning. Shortly before last midnight the river began cutting away at the levee between house 5 and house 6, and before morning the 200-foot breach was widened to 700 feet. The current shot straight at the hole and cut 200 feet inland before a quick fall removed its teeth. Three hundred feet beyond, and intact, is the Inter-California levee, standing between the river and the drop into the 12196 slough leading to the Colorado. The situation there this morning received the attention of Engineers Rockwood of the Irrigation District, Allison of the California Development Company and Perry of the Sociedad.
During the night two speeders collided on the C. D. levee and Clyde Jams of Calexico, driver of one of the cars, suffered fractures of both legs, the left being broken in three places. Another fight during the night was made to keep one of the big dredgers in the intake from grounding. With the gates partly shut down, much salt has been deposited in the channel and efforts to keep the dredgers off and bars succeeded.

and her daughter were personally escorted on board yesterday afternoon by Mr. Behold. Instructions for their comfort and safety were wired ahead by the railroad officials.
"I can't tell you how thankful I am to everybody," Mrs. Moore said yesterday. "They have all been so nice. I only hope that some day I will have the opportunity of repaying the kindness shown us in our time of need."
"I saw my father for the last time in August," Mrs. Moore added. "I saw the exposition together, and we were so happy. I have been living in Berkeley while I attended the university, and the only time I had to see my father was when he made little visits to San Francisco."
"The last word I had from him was dated just a few days before the awful flood. He said he was feeling tired, but expected to rest up and be all right in a few days. He was never afflicted with heart trouble in his life."
"You see, Yuma is comparatively small and so much is expected of its Mayor and Council, who are always thinking of other people. I know he just worked himself into a state of collapse, trying to aid his friends."
Mrs. Moore several months ago to spend the winter in Los Angeles. She was too overcome by the news of the tragedy to speak to him. The attention shown upon her by the railway officials made her sense of loss even more poignant.

The Immigration Launch Ellington Pressed into Service to Take Federal Officers to San Diego for Preliminary Hearing in Calypso Case.
Railway communication between this city and San Diego still being out of order, Deputy United States Marshal Thomson and Assistant United States District Attorney O'Connor started yesterday afternoon to make the trip down the coast on the immigration launch Ellington for the preliminary hearing today before United States Commissioner Burch, of the case against Capt. William L. Sasasman and others, who are charged with taking the launch Calypso from a Federal officer at San Diego, several weeks ago.
The case was set for last Saturday, but a postponement was ordered because the Federal officers could not be in attendance. It was necessary to be there today to avoid the consideration of a motion on the part of Capt. Sasasman to dismiss the charge.

ENGINEERS SELECTED TO ATTACK SEWER PROBLEM.

PROF. CHARLES GILMAN HYDE of the University of California was named chairman of the County Commission of Sanitary Engineers by the Board of Supervisors yesterday.
Thomas A. Gillespie, sanitary engineer for the State Board of Health, and George P. Robinson of the City Engineer's office, were unanimous appointments to the board. The other two appointees, A. H. Koebig and A. M. Brosius, received a majority of votes. There were a total of twelve applications received for membership on the commission.
This body of highly qualified sanitation experts was requested to start work as soon as possible on a plan for the solution of the sewer problem of the county. Specific instructions as to what is expected of them were issued by the Supervisors in a set of resolutions.
According to these, the engineers are to determine the advisability of a trunk line outfall sewer to the sea, constructed at the expense of the cities and the unincorporated districts using the same. They are to determine at what depth and to what distance from the shore sewerage that has been treated should be discharged in the ocean.
Varieties of sewage-reducing plants, their location, dangers of contamination of communities by flies, mosquitoes, germs carried on unfragrant odors, and numerous other points are to be taken up. Whether or not sewage effluent can be safely used for irrigation is another question to be settled.
The commission is asked to report back to the board as soon as possible after a comprehensive survey of the county and its needs.

trial of Charles E. Williamson, former president of the National Tuna Fishing and Packing Company, who is charged with using the mails to defraud Mrs. Minnie C. Emerson.
Williamson was indicted in 1914, and after being released on bond, left the Pacific Coast, and some months later was taken into custody at Bay City, Mich., where he was found at the home of his mother. He was returned to jail here, and was again released on bond, and for a second time left the jurisdiction, being picked up in Denver later on, where he was found engaged in various enterprises. During his second excursion Williamson claimed to have gone to England. His wife, whom it is alleged, he abandoned, lives in Texas.

A "Womanly" Way to Remove Hair

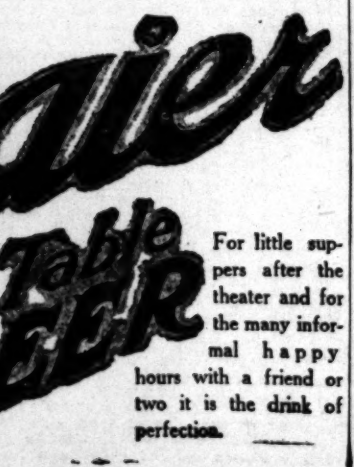

Women nowadays remove the hair from their underarms not only to meet the dictates of fashion, but for the cleanliness and comfort of it. Those who shrink from the use of a razor will find the most agreeable way to remove hair from the face, lip, neck, or arms, is with El Radol.
El Radol is a sanitary liquid that practically erases the hair off in a few moments by dissolving it. Easily applied with a piece of absorbent cotton. Does not cause later hair growth, and is absolutely harmless. Money-back guarantee. At all retail counters, 50c and $1.00.
If you prefer, we will gladly fill your order by mail sent in plain package. If you will write inclosing stamps or coin, Pilgrim Mfg. Co., 20 East 25th Street, New York.

TENNIS CHAMP NOW ANGELENO.

Maury McLoughlin Comes to Town on the Owl.

Neither He Nor Tom Bundy Fear Professionalism.

Get Busy on Plans for Their Business Venture.

BY HOWARD ANGUS.

Maury McLoughlin, the "California comet," now calls Los Angeles his home. The famous tennis player dropped into town on the "Owl" yesterday with no intention of ever leaving. All of the afternoon he spent with Tom Bundy, his tennis partner, planning the store that they are to open here.

From the way McLoughlin bossed the carpenters around, he is quite set on having a store, whether the tennis association rules him a professional or not.

SURE OF IT.

"There is no danger of either McLoughlin or myself being declared professionals under the present rule," explained Tom Bundy. "We went over that very carefully when in the East. If Maury was going to run a little stand where he sold and repaired tennis racquets and gave lessons for money then he would be."

The present plan of the two players is to have McLoughlin in entire charge of the store. Tom Bundy is not going out of his present business. But the store is to be just down the hall from the real estate office, so Maury can run to Tom for help when the cash register gets stuck.

THEIR VIEWS.

When they were asked whether they would go through with their present plans if the Lawn Tennis Association should rule them professionals, Bundy said: "We only cross bridges when we come to them." But McLoughlin spoke up:

"Most assuredly we would. To stop then would be to admit that we were really professionals, and we're not. I'm not commercializing my tennis fame. I'm just trying to make a living selling athletic goods instead of real estate or bonds or the like. Naturally I'm more interested in athletics than in anything else, and know more about it."

LOGICAL.

"But never fear," put in Bundy. "They will not take any such action. If they did, Willie Johnston, who works in the Wright-Dixon store in San Francisco, would be a professional. Alexander, who, with Hackett is doubles champion so long, would be a professional, for he manages a Spalding store in New York. There are hundreds of players who would be affected all over the country."

"The Pacific Coast association is behind us to a man and the East could not afford to break with it. To cut off the California players would ruin tennis. Whatever tennis is, it is because of them. Why, tennis was dead when we went east four years ago," Bundy went on to say that it is impossible to keep a man's reputation as a tennis player out of his business relations.

A GREAT HELP.

"Why, the biggest deal that I've put over in the real estate business has come to me through friends made by my tennis playing. Simpson Simsbach probably has a larger personal acquaintance than any tennis player in the West. He is in the insurance business. One sells insurance to his personal friends."

"Why, R. D. Wrenn, the president of the Lawn Tennis Association, uses tennis to make a living. He is a stock broker. It is through his tennis connections that he meets the wealthy people whose stock he handles. What difference does it make what the business is? It would be foolish for them to declare either of us professionals. I because my money is invested in it. Maury because he is part owner and manager of the business!"

INSTANCES.

"I have known many tennis players in the East," added McLoughlin, "who use their tennis reputations to sell bonds and nobody thinks of their being professionals. I never was paid for having my name on a certain racket. I wrote a book on tennis and was paid for it, but nobody thought of that making me a professional."

BIG MONEY FOR FEDERAL STARS.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—Forty thousand dollars was spent by the New York American League Club to strengthen its playing force by the purchase of the Federal League stars, Magee, Culp and Gedeon, according to B. B. Johnson, president of the league. Mr. Johnson said today that he had been given this information in a telephone communication with Col. Jacob Rupert, one of the owners of the Yankees.

WEST REBELS OVER TENNIS ARGUMENT.

PLAYERS WILL SECEDE FOR TOM AND MAURICE.

Californians Ready to Form Association of Their Own if National Body Decides to Professionalize Favorites—Eastern Officials are Amazed at Stand of Westerners.

(BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Jan. 24.—California will rebel and its players declare war against the United States National Lawn Tennis Association if so much as a resolution is cast on the amateur status against Maury McLoughlin and Thomas Bundy, the men who have done so much to place California on the lawn tennis map.

An official of the association received answers today to inquiries he had addressed to western officials as to what action might be expected to follow the adoption of a rule which would declare all connected with sporting goods houses from competition in tournaments and championships held under national directions.

The thing that has angered the men directing the game in the West were agreed as to its effect. Their answers appeared not so much a promise as a threat. They appear to be banded together to resist any attempt to professionalize any of their players, just as they were three years ago in bringing about the defeat of the clause in the amateur rule adopted at that time prohibiting the payment of expenses.

The thing that has amazed the eastern officials, who are striving to find some solution to the vexing problem which confronts them when the foremost ranking men enter into the sale of sporting goods, is that the West appears to have carefully organized.

RIVERS DRAWS WITH MITCHELL.

Los Angeles Boy Puts up a Clean, Game Fight.

Is Applauded by the Crowd for Sportsmanship.

Much Blood Flowing Before Battle is Finished.

BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 24.—Joe Rivers of Los Angeles and Ritchie Mitchell of Milwaukee, each weighing slightly under 134 pounds, fought ten fierce rounds to a draw, according to popular verdict here tonight. It was the prettiest and fastest and the most viciously fought fight staged here in recent years. There was enough gruelling, snappy infighting and also enough of the skillful "stand-up and box" sort to satiate the craving of even the most ardent of the 5000 fans who packed Music Hall.

JOE SHINES.

In the infighting Rivers was the more clever of the two and he worried his opponent by repeated sledgehammer wallop to the kidneys. Infighting was his game and if Mitchell were not the clever boxer he is and had not been so cleverly guarded to avoid clinches and make his antagonist fight in the open, the Mexican would have won in the seventh round. Rivers scored first blood when he brought a streamer from Mitchell's mouth in the first round.

In the sixth he closed Mitchell's left eye and kept it closed by repeated hammering for the rest of the mill. By the middle of the fight both men were bleeding like stuck pigs from cuts on their faces. In the ninth Rivers missed a vicious swing aimed for the jaw. It would have been the last of the fight but the Milwaukee man ducked cleverly and Rivers crashed to the floor from the force of the misdirected blow. It was near the close of the round and he was down at the bell. He limped to his corner, plainly suffering great pain from a bruised knee.

GAME.

"Don't let him quit," bellowed Mitchell's seconds, who figured on a knockout. He didn't quit but hobbled in gamely at the opening of the tenth and this proved the fiercest round of the entire programme. Both men tried desperately for a knockout but their blows lacked the requisite steam. In the eighth round, Rivers knocked Mitchell against the ropes and he fell. Rivers let an opportunity go by to knock him out then and by so doing brought forth cheers from the crowd for his fairness and clean fighting.

SNAPPY.

The men shook hands after this. Only in the seventh and ninth rounds did Mitchell have Rivers in apparent distress, but the Angeleno's gameness and his cleverness in running into clinches redounded greatly to his advantage and turned the tide in his favor, as he banged away on Mitchell's sore kidneys. All during the fight there was not an idle moment and there were rounds when some of the cleverest boxing and ring generalship ever seen here was brought into play.

In his bout with Johnny Kilbane, Mitchell kept his wonderful left constantly at work, and with it he thoroughly trimmed the featherweight champion. He tried the same tactics on Joe Rivers tonight but Rivers evidently had read or some one had told him about the New Year's battle and he had Ritchie's left swings and jabs checked at almost every turn. "Draw" was a just verdict of the mill.

RESTRAIN ILLICIT MOVIE AGREEMENTS.

COMPANY CANNOT ENFORCE AN UNLAWFUL PACT.

United States District Court Hands Down Important Decision—Decree in Conformity with Case of Last October—General Film Company Stockholders are Heard.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 24.—An injunction restraining the Moving Picture Patents Company from enforcing alleged unlawful agreements entered into by its various associates was issued today by Judge Dickinson in the United States District Court. His decree is in conformity with the court's decision last October, in which it was held that the patents company was operating in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law. The injunction will not become operative until February 4, in order that the defendants may have an opportunity of taking an appeal.

Edward P. Grosvener, a special assistant Attorney-General, who prosecuted the alleged motion-picture trust, stated to the court today that an injunction would be sufficient to put an end to the alleged unlawful operations of the defendant. Counsel for preferred stockholders of the General Film Company appeared at the hearing and requested that the court contain a provision that the defendants give up their interests in the General Film Company. He declared that his clients, independent dealers, were forced, through fear of being ruined, to sell their business to the General Film Company, being paid in cash and in preferred stock of the company.

He used to be called "California's pride." He fought a slashing ten-round war last night with Ritchie Mitchell, one of the scrappiest lightweights in the Middle West.

POWERS WANTS LIMIT RAISED, M'CREDIE DOESN'T.

TOM DARMODY officially passed out of baseball when "Boots" Weber was elected secretary and treasurer of the Angels at the directors' meeting yesterday. "Boots" has been acting secretary for a long time, but this is the first time that he has had all the honors heaped upon him that his work deserved.

Johnny Powers, in, of course, the president and Frank Chance, the "Peerless One" is the vice-president. These two were expected to fill these offices, but the naming of "Boots" came as a surprise just as Powers said it would.

The first act of the new secretary was to deny the report that George Metzger, the third baseman, and Harry Harper, the utility outfielder, had been unconditionally released. "What we have not even been had on the two," he said. "Besides, according to the league rules all that is necessary is to fail to send them contracts. However, Mr. Chance will give unconditional releases to all those players he does not care to take into spring training with him. Every body will be given an opportunity to line up something for himself. But the Angels have released nobody."

Johnny Powers, the controlling owner of the Angels, is very desirous of having the salary limit raised to $5000. It is understood that Eddie Malar, the owner of the Tigers, is of the same opinion. But no steps have yet been taken toward having the league directors vote on the proposition. Frank Chance will send out all contracts this week, so before many moons have passed those released will realize that the ax has fallen.

No Chance, Says Baum.

(BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Jan. 24.—President A. T. Baum, declares that it is not likely that thirty additional games will be added to the Coast League schedule this season to provide seven games a week at Salt Lake and Portland. The story originated from Los Angeles, Ham Patterson being credited with saying that a movement was under way to equalize the playing of the clubs all around the circuit. He claims that Portland and Salt Lake are favored in having only six games a week during their home stay of fifteen weeks each, while the others play seven.

"The matter has not been officially taken up," said President Baum, "and I think it is a foolish idea. Portland and Salt Lake cannot have Sunday morning baseball and if the new schedule was arranged it would necessitate a double-header on a week day or Sunday afternoon. Anyone connected with baseball knows that double-headers are bad things. I don't think the directors will consider the proposition. It has come up before and a way could not be seen so as to have the full series."

The managers of the San Francisco, Oakland and the two Southern teams have always contended that the six games a week manager is favored by the schedule. It gives him more of

CITRUS LEAGUE MAKES ITSELF SQUABBLE-PROOF.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]
POMONA, Jan. 24.—The Citrus Belt League officials, representing Pomona, Riverside, Redlands, San Bernardino, Ontario, Corona and Colton, have revised the league constitution until it now conforms to the constitutional requirements of the California Intercollegiate Federation. The change was made to forestall the possibility of such squabbles as resulted over the competition for the Southern California high school championship last fall.

The new arrangement provides for two important changes in the Citrus Belt League rules, namely:
A boy may not play football in one high school on the ground that he was a pupil at some other high school the previous semester. He must have been a pupil during the previous semester in the high school for which he is a player. Attendance in the high school for which a boy plays, during the previous semester, is absolutely demanded. Formerly it was not necessary to have attended any high school the previous semester.
A player cannot participate in football or other high school athletics in the league after he had been in high school for eight semesters, regardless of the fact that he may be under 21 years of age. Of course, he cannot play after he is 21, under any consideration, but neither can he play after he has been a high school student eight semesters. Formerly he could have been a pupil in high school any number of semesters, just so he wasn't over 21 years of age.

It is claimed that to have conformed to these requirements last fall the Riverside High School team would have had to bench seven of its best players. This is the statement of H. P. Reynolds, principal of the Pomona High School.

Los Angeles Needs More Indoor Meets to Shoot a Little Ginger Into Track

INDOOR MEETS
NEEDED HERE.

Bob Weaver Discourses Upon the Decline of Track.

"Papa" Klavans Tells Good
Points of Inside Work.

Suitable Floor Being Sought for Evening Affairs.

Bob Weaver, the jovial president of the A.A.U., says that it is imperative that Southern California have an indoor track season. In it he sees the only salvation of track athletics in the south, and his reasoning sounds sensible.

"Why, track is going from bad to worse," he declared yesterday. "I can remember how southern athletes used to go up north and win first places right and left. Fisher and Burgess used to clean up in the mile and two-mile every time they showed their faces around Berkeley or Palo Alto. Hiram used to trot away with everything. Owen Bird was able to do both the 100 and 220. Brown was a sure winner in the 440. Hagerman always copped the broad jump. Last year it wasn't so bad with Drew and Kelly."

WORKERS.
"And why did these track men win? Because they trained and trained, and trained, and then trained some more. They ran cross-country all through the fall. At the first of the year they were almost in mid-season form. During the month of January, all the interclub meets were gotten out of the way and several outside meets held by all the colleges in the south. The result was champions."

"But how is it now? Here it is the end of January and nobody is training. The relay carnival, set for February 25 at Pasadena, is only a few weeks away. Yet everybody dilly-dallies on. It's disgusting. What's the result? We haven't a man in the south that could win a first place against either California or Stanford."

THE PANACEA.
"Now, the only solution for this is an indoor track season beginning in the middle of December and running through that month and January. The meets with the medals will stir up enthusiasm. Track will be really serious. Everybody will be interested. That's the trouble now. No interest. Next year the season will begin right after football and five or six indoor meets will follow in rapid succession. There will be medals of gold and silver and bronze. Then you will see real athletes again in the south."

WALLY, TOO.
Wally Robb and most of the other sportsmen seemed to agree with the president of the A.A.U. that an indoor season was needed. "If it's going to rain like this every January," said Robb, "an indoor season will be as badly needed here as in the East. There is always a sort of chill in the air that makes outdoor meets distasteful in January."

"Papa" Klavans seemed to be also in favor of an indoor season. His argument was that it would interest a great number of people in athletics who could not otherwise participate. "The beauty about indoor meets," said he, "is that they are held at night. The men who work in the stores and are not college men at all can compete in them. They are the men who make athletics in the East. Kohlmeiers, the wonderful long distance runner, just graduated from head elevator boy the other day. Joey Ray, the boy who beat Taber in the north, doesn't even know how to spell college. Joe Loomis, the sprinter, never got through high school. Ahearn, the broad jumper, has been a door man all his life. Kiviat was raised in a jewelry store. Those are the fellows that go into athletics and stick with them. They may not be as finished in manners as the collegians, but they sure make the competition. I certainly am for an indoor track season."

One excuse and another has been given for not having an indoor track season. The reason that is usually advanced is lack of an indoor track. DIFFICULTIES.
The Los Angeles Athletic Club is taboo because the gym is too small. Relays and dashes of a respectable length cannot be held. The track itself is concrete and ruinous to legs. This could be remedied by corking the track.

The Shrine Auditorium has been objected to as too far out of town. It is claimed that the crowd will not go that far.

There is some talk of using the old Boston store for the indoor meets.

WILL SETTLE
PREP HONORS.

The final series of matches for the high school basketball championship will begin February 14. These matches will be played between the winners of the various leagues. Just what teams will meet in the elimination play-off will be decided next week. Coach Miljen of Huntington Park has charge of that.

As many as two games may be played a week, all depending on what teams are paired off. If Hollywood and Alhambra or Whittier and Alhambra or two games could be played by any of the three teams in one week. But should any of them be pitted against Colton and have to go there, only one game could be played in a week. It is likely that neutral courts will be demanded for all games.

Hollywood has won the city title, Corona has clinched the Citrus Belt championship and Alhambra boasts the winning quintette of the suburban league. Whittier is regarded as practically a certainty in the county league.

He's Landed.

Throws and Bats Left-handed and
Is Said to Be Hard Hitter—Manager
Elliott Has Not Been Heard From—Various Reports as to Mission of His Eastern Journey.

(BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Jan. 25.—The signed contract of Malcolm S. Barry, the first baseman, purchased by the Oaks from Jersey City, in the International League, was duly received at headquarters across the bay today. Barry is one of four first basemen to try for Jack New's place, and he is looked upon as the most promising.

He is described as a tall left-handed thrower and batter, who tips the beam around 165 pounds. Clyde Wares recommends him as a hard hitter and a fast runner.

Barry had a try-out with the New York Yankees in 1912 and was shipped to Jersey City, where he has been for the last two seasons. In 1914 he hit .395 and last season rapped the bat for .355. He fielded .992, one point better than New, which is going some.

No word has been heard from Manager Elliott since he departed for the East. One report that he is to see Comiskey relative to having Jack New's contract in denied. The Oaks are satisfied with the new acquisition, and Danzig and Ely for candidates, not to mention Rube Gardner, who can step in there in the pinch.

SPARKLES FROM RIALTO.

SIDELIGHTS ON THE STUDIO AND STAGE DOINGS.

By Grace Kingsley.

George Barnes, a well-known English vaudeville comedian, this week joined the Universal forces, where, under the direction of Roy Clements, he is to appear as co-star with Victor Fotel in a "joker comedy."

Hello, Marshall.

Marshall Neilan has returned to the Coast, and is with the Selig.

Would Do It.

Charlotte Greenwood, of "So Long Letty," went out to the Country Club

"Can't Make My Eyes Behave."

Anna Held.

The over-fascinating comedienne who began a week's engagement yesterday at the Orpheum. She incidentally gave a few strains of her famous song in a medley of her popular hits.

and tennis-ed yesterday, despite the inclemency of the weather.

Four Little Anna.

Anna Luther, the new Keystone-Triangle star, whose work in "Crooked to the End," created a favorable comment, has suffered a nervous breakdown, and is confined to her bed in the Clara Barton Hospital.

Made the Count Behave.

Anna Held has given the conge to the Russian Count who followed her from abroad.

"I am for busy to think of matrimony," said Miss Held.

While not admitting there had been any quarrel with the mysterious dignitary, Miss Held said with a significant gesture: "It is over; it is finished. I have many proposals of marriage from nice men. I think it is wonderful, but I do not marry any more. Not now, anyway."

Cas Talk, Too.

Anna, of the refractory orbs, has bloomed into a public speaker.

Miss Held is to be the guest of the Ad Club at luncheon today and will address that organization on her experiences while singing for the French soldiers in the trenches and hospitals.

Nobody is more surprised than Miss Held herself at her sudden success as a speaker. She made a tremendous hit last week before the Oakland Chamber of Commerce and also in Fresno.

"I frightened me terribly to think of speaking before those great, big, clever men; but my! when I start talking it is as if I am wound up. They make much noise when I finish, and some of them weep. I give myself one grand surprise."

Miss Held is considering changing her act to include her talk on her war experiences, ending up with giving the songs of hers the French soldiers enjoyed.

Fals Out in Force.

The Fals Club occupied several rows of seats and boxes at the Orpheum last night.

Miss Held has presented the Fals Club of San Francisco and that of Los Angeles each with a big arm chair, with the proviso that whenever occupies it must pay 5 cents an hour for the privilege, the amount so earned to go into the Fals fund.

Cas't Beat It.

Lillian Russell and Mary Shaw were guests of the Gamut Club the other night at the smoker, and Miss Shaw related her experience as follows:

"I spoke on suffrage," said Miss Shaw, "and I told those men what very grand men they were to grant the ballot to women. But I saw it didn't get over very well. There were a lot of men there whose looks were stony, and who I just knew had fought suffrage tooth and nail, and would again if they had a chance anywhere. So I stepped on Lillian's foot under the table, and told her she must speak on the subject. Lillian rose, talked on all sorts of things, smiled her winning smile, and just at the end, beamed brilliantly, and said: 'And the sweetest thing about California is the noble way in which you have behaved about woman suffrage. And every one of those men fell down figuratively, at Lillian's feet. Oh, you can't beat the Lillian Russell smile.'"

Morocco's New One.

"Within the Law," by George Broadhurst, is to be filmed by the Morocco Photoplay Company. The principals who will appear in the cast have not yet been chosen.

Something New.

They don't lose their jewels any more, these actresses, they lose pet animals nowadays. Helen Eddy, of the Morocco company has lost her little bay pony answering to the name of Winnie. The creature wandered out of the yard of Miss Eddy's home on Pasadena avenue, last Saturday, and has not been seen since.

Thrilling.

A film fight and a fall into the ocean nearly ended in the death of Harry De Vere, motion picture actor, on Saturday night, when scenes in "The Code of Marcella Gray" were being secured at San Pedro for the Morocco Photoplay Company. Harry De Vere and Howard Davies pulled out a film fight on the pier, ending in a splash into the ocean. De Vere swam; Davies can't. But De Vere's heart went back on him at the last moment, and so it was Davies who had to hold up the other in the water with one hand, while his other arm clasped a pile until both came to the actors' aid.

Will Probably Roll.

Edmund Lowe has discovered that he has gained two pounds, and he's going to do something about it right away.

Good Actor.

Charlie, the big Universal elephant in the keeping of "Dynamite" Funtrell, is one of the most valuable assets of the big U ranch.

As a set out on the lot to be wrecked? Charlie gives a great grunt and a shove, and over she goes. Is an automobile stuck in the mud? Charlie is hitched to it, and out she comes.

Is a load of lumber to be hauled from one end of the ranch to the other? Very well, Charlie is "it."

Yesterday they were hauling Charlie down the road on a truck to work location. He was having the time of his life riding in stolid ease, gazing at the scenery, when lo and behold, his truck sank in two feet of mud. So Charlie had to descend from his throne and pull his own chariot out of the mud.

Just Like the Stories.

Small, the new orchestra leader at the Hippodrome, got his chance yesterday. Some of the Hip acts were detained by the storm, and so Mr. Small stepped into the breach. He climbed up out of the orchestra pit, dug his old "single" in which he used to appear, out of the trunk, whipped it into shape, and without the audience realizing that anything unusual was going on contrary to schedule, stepped before the footlights. He made a big hit, too.

Sweet Charity.

Every city in California boasting a theater is to be given an opportunity to contribute to the Actors' Fund of America, according to action taken a few nights ago by the committee of theatrical folk having the matter in charge, which met at the Mayor's office in the City Hall, with William Wyatt presiding.

According to the plan, a subcommittee will send to the manager of each theater in every town, however small, pamphlets setting out the nature of the movement, with the request that such theater take an active part in the big national movement in raising funds for the fund above mentioned. In most cases naturally the participation will consist in the advertising of a particular day, to be known as Actors' Fund Day, when the receipts of the theater or a percentage thereof will be turned over

WORKS OF ART GO UNDER HAMMER.

PART OF DORSEY COLLECTION AUCTIONED OFF.

Helios and Rare Articles Collected by ex-Senator and Valued at About Seventy Thousand Dollars Sacrificed in Public Auction to Meet Mortgage.

Valuable paintings and historical relics valued at approximately $70,000, a part of the famous collection owned by former United States Senator Stephen W. Dorsey, were sold yesterday at a public auction at the residence of Mr. Dorsey, No. 2419 Figueroa street, to foreclose a chattel mortgage, by order of Samuel E. Farout, a bank trustee.

The paintings, vases and miscellaneous articles of furniture, which were sold under the auctioneer's hammer yesterday represent a collection that was brought from different parts of the world during the last thirty years by Mr. Dorsey, who is one of the best known connoisseurs in this country. Several of the most valuable pictures in the collection were found in a junk shop about four miles from Florence, Italy, where they had been for an unknown period. They were encrusted with dust and dirt so that it was difficult to recognize them as paintings, according to Mr. Dorsey. They were purchased at a nominal price and taken to London, where they were partially cleaned under the direction of Lord Leighton, who expressed a high opinion of them. Subsequently they were brought to New York and renovated and restored by experts in the Metropolitan Art Gallery. Lord Leighton and other connoisseurs believed they were painted either in Raphael's studio in Florence, during his residence there, or by students under his instruction between 1504 and 1509.

There was spirited bidding yesterday for a large cloisonne, valued at about $1100, which was formerly in the collection given to Admiral Perry, commander of the United States squadron in the Orient, by the Emperor of Tyoko, of Japan when the first treaty was made by a foreign nation with the Japanese government.

Another interesting article sold by the auctioneer was the Coco-De-Mer, a double coconut brought from the Seychelles Islands in the Indian Ocean. The nut was obtained there by a London artist who was visiting the Mauritius Islands, painting portraits of the Governor's family. Later it was mounted in silver and taken to London, where it was purchased from the artist's family many years ago. The only other known specimen of the kind is in the Kensington Museum, London.

Chippendale furniture, marble, Chinese vases, Japanese ivories, Persian rugs, lace curtains and draperies were among the other valuable articles sold. The sale will close today.

NOR WAR NOR WASHOUT.

Man and the Elements Unable to Turn the Course of True Love and Delay the Joyous Culmination Here of an International Romance.

Floods and washouts, wars and battles, "ragging colonels" and irate home officers, delayed trains and belated telegrams failed to prevent the blooming of an international romance that had its center in Los Angeles, when Miss Ellen E. Curtis, a handsome Buffalo society girl, was married to Capt. Robert W. A. Brewer of the English army, Sunday evening. The wedding was at the Christ Episcopal Church, Rev. Baker P. Lee officiating.

Capt. Brewer, who is stationed at Stockton overseeing the manufacture of war munitions, tractors and motors, planned for a quiet wedding in this city last week. Bryon Beasley, the actor, and his wife, friends of the officer, acted as man and matron of honor.

For forty-eight hours prior to the wedding the exact whereabouts of the pretty bride-to-be were unknown. The distracted groom met every train that arrived in Los Angeles for two days, as he was unable to reach Miss Curtis by wire and his only information was that the train was storm bound on the desert. He did not even know which road the young lady was to arrive on. However, Sunday morning Miss Curtis arrived on the delayed train and the wedding followed. Capt. Brewer had taken the precaution to secure a license Friday evening. The couple returned to Stockton following the marriage ceremony.

ANNUAL BANQUET.

Life Insurance Men Have Merry Time at Athletic Club.

With approximately 100 in attendance the twelfth annual inaugural banquet and dance of the Life Underwriters' Association of Los Angeles was held last night at the Los Angeles Athletic Club. Representatives from every life insurance company in the city were present. Commencing at 7 o'clock with an elaborate dinner, festivities continued until past midnight. Dr. Alfred Fairhurst of Lexington, Ky., former professor in the Lexington University, was guest of honor, and in a brief address told many interesting events of the by-gone days in the relationship of banking to life underwriting. Frank E. McMullen, general agent of the Massachusetts Mutual Life, officiated as toastmaster. Following the programme of addresses and several musical numbers the evening was devoted to dancing.

AWAIT ATTORNEY.

Court Postpones Till Next Friday Setting Date of Trial of David Caplan—Schmidt, Convicted of Dynamiting, Granted Stay for a Like Time.

Date for the trial of David Caplan, charged with the slaying of Charles Haggerty, one of the twenty victims of the dynamiting of the original Times Building on October 1, 1915, was not set yesterday morning. Judge Willis granted the request of Defense Counsel J. H. Ryckman for a postponement until next Friday, at which time, Nathan C. Coghlan of San Francisco, leading attorney for Matthew A. Schmidt, convicted of the same crime, will be able to be present. At the same time, Judge Willis granted a stay of execution of the sentence of Schmidt until next Friday. At that time, he will be sent to San Quentin penitentiary to begin serving a life sentence, unless friends succeed in securing a new trial as a result of their appeal to the State Supreme Court.

In order that the Supreme Court take cognizance of the appeal, Judge Willis will have to sign a certificate indicating that there is "probable cause" for it. This cause must rest with reasonable doubt on the correctness of the trial court's ruling on law points.

If Judge Willis grants this certificate, it will open the way for Schmidt to remain in the County Jail, instead of going to the penitentiary. The District Attorney's office will oppose such procedure when the case is brought up on Friday.

The danger of either of the tennis players being professionals seems improbable, for such a ruling as one less it be a crime for any tennis player to be a professional, because he is a business where he sells tennis goods and all kinds of goods which are tennis supplies, is unjust.

It was not E. D. Evans, of the other directors who made the sport it is today. The popularized tennis was a boy who came out of the West, loved by a long string of California players.

Loughlin went East to see McLaughlin, Bundy, Mrs. Florence Sutton who go East to see McLaughlin (Bundy) and to see Tom Bundy. "You can say for Mrs. Bundy that we will make to send McLaughlin East."

New-York Life Insurance Co.,

346 & 348 Broadway, New York City.

SEVENTY-FIRST ANNUAL REPORT

To the Policy-holders and Public:

One year ago I stated that the European war would not have any material effect on our Company, notwithstanding the world-wide character of its business.

I now confirm that statement by facts based on experience that includes twelve added months of war.

In life insurance the financial effect of mortality is expressed by the per cent. which the total actual death losses of the year bear to the expected death losses according to the tables of mortality adopted by the State for valuation purposes. Through a period of years this per cent. (disregarding fractions) has been as follows:—

1912 Actual death losses 76% of the "expected"
1913 Actual death losses 73% of the "expected"
1914 Actual death losses 73% of the "expected" (5 months of war)
1915 Actual death losses 73% of the "expected" (12 months of war)

In all the world, from the beginning of hostilities up to January, 1916, seventeen months, we had in all the membership of the Company 534 separate war claims.

During the year 1915:—
409 members of the Company were killed in war
448 members of the Company were killed by accident
707 members of the Company died of cancer
772 members of the Company died of pneumonia
950 members of the Company died of tuberculosis.

In the grim battle of life with its inevitable mortality and its unnecessary slaughter, the mortality of a world-war, even while it is being prosecuted, amongst a membership that is also world-wide, is about—

91% of that caused by accident in the same membership
58% of that caused by cancer in the same membership
53% of that caused by pneumonia in the same membership
43% of that caused by tuberculosis in the same membership.

A modern war cannot be localized. Electricity, steam, and the partial conquest of the air, have made the world so small that any great international upheaval shocks the whole of civilization. War under such conditions takes its toll impartially and in these days the nation which is an "innocent bystander" suffers proportionately with the belligerents.

It is interesting to notice that this Company had, in seventeen months, war losses from seventeen countries, and that what may be called AMERICAN LOSSES exceed those of any belligerent country except in two instances:

United States (including Lunitania losses) $112,000
Australia 29,000
Austria-Hungary 29,500
Belgium 23,000
Canada 49,000
Great Britain 84,000
Russia 76,000

Only in France and Germany have the totals exceeded those of our own country.

Life insurance isn't designed merely for times of peace. It would confess its inability highly to serve humanity if it did not measurably cover all the risk naturally incurred by healthy men.

DURING THE YEAR 1915 NO POLICY-HOLDER OR BENEFICIARY, WHEREVER RESIDENT WAS DENIED A REASONABLY PROMPT SETTLEMENT OF ANY JUST CLAIM. WE HAVE IGNORED AND STILL IGNORE ALL MORATORIA, ALTHOUGH THESE REGULATIONS ARE INVOKED AGAINST US IN SOME PLACES.

In New Business we have done well. We have made good the natural shrinkage on an outstanding business of $2,347,000,000 at the close of 1914, and increased the total amount to $2,403,000,000 at the close of 1915.

Of the $214,000,000 new business paid for in 1915 over $200,000,000 was secured in the United States and Canada.

NO BOND ISSUED BY ANY BELLIGERENT COUNTRY AND HELD BY US WAS IN DEFAULT OF PRINCIPAL OR OF INTEREST AT THE CLOSE OF 1915.

Market values, as a whole, are a little lower than a year ago. Bonds of belligerent nations are quoted in our Annual Statement at the market where a quotation was obtainable, otherwise and in only one instance as of June 30, 1914.

other part of the list, being strengthened by reported sales of refined copper for May and June delivery at 25 1/2 cents.

Total sales of stocks amounted to 667,000 shares. Receipt of another large block of American securities from London, together with a small amount of foreign securities, enabled the fund to further foreign liquidation.

Southern Pacific's December sales of 100,000 shares of common stock indicates that the Pacific systems are carrying a maximum capacity of tonnage.

Bonds in general were more steady than stocks, with large trading in the foreign market. Sales of American bonds, par value, were $4,520,000. United States bonds were purchased on margin.

LOCAL STOCK EXCHANGE.

Mining Issues Dominate Trading.
Ivanhoe Stronger.

If it had not been for the mining stocks yesterday's session of the exchange would have been exceedingly dull. All the Oatmans were in better demand, and Ivanhoe, as usual, was the favorite. The stock of the latter, however, was sold off by the stock changed hands during the day at improved prices, and the security closed strong at 22 1/2 bid. Speculators appear to be buying Ivanhoe in large quantities, and the stock offers an opportunity, but until yesterday the trading in the stock has been rather listless. Both the Oatman and the Ivanhoe Pine brought 1.20 on the declaration of a 10 per cent. dividend, to be paid on February 1. The stock of the two books closing for the same on February 1. Tom Reed sold for 1.65, and Big Jim for 1.50. The stock of the two Sales were recorded in Fessenden, Dome, Lucky Boy and United Western. The stock of the latter was sold for $1.00. The bond list received more attention when 10 Home Telephone first refunding bonds were sold for $1.00. At a meeting of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange held yesterday afternoon, the following were elected to membership in the organization. The Producers' Transportation Trust, which is a new company, was elected for $1.50 a share Monday.
